

The Federal Relations Director manages and coordinates the interaction between UGA and its divisions and the legislative and executive branches of the federal government.

The daily responsibilities of the Director are chiefly concentrated within three overarching duties: to work closely with the Georgia Congressional delegation on legislation and federal policies which help advance the University's strategic goals; to expand the University's visibility among Executive Branch officials, as well as to identify, modify and create opportunities to increase federal agency support; and, to effectively address federal regulatory policies which would impact operations at the University.
